Gold Found in District That Was Thought to Be Worked Out—Development in the Nevada Gold Field—Rich Finds in Nome

of Goldfield, he woke up wonderfully, and when shown a thing or two on the claim itself Jones jumped. The man with the option never got out of January's sight until the bargain was clinched.

The price called for was only $3,000 and at the last moment the original owners of the claim proposed an incorporation, one-third for themselves, one for Jones and one for the prospector. The deal was made, the corporation formed, and when the original proprietors got hold of their 200,000 shares they went on a spree and sold out for a cent a share, getting about $2,000, where they might have had $3,000 for the option. Jones's great regret now is that he wasn't around when those men were drunk.

Development work on the Sassy Sal is not more than six weeks old, but a shaft has been sunk to a depth of 40 feet near the summit of a quartz topped hill which is in the center of the property. Jones himself is in charge of the work, and he is already so elated that he loshes the men that have never taken the said Jones, "are far better than they were on the January. There is not a pan full of sand or waste on the top of that hill that does Sand or waste on the top of that hill that does not show gold. The outcroppings of quartz form a long dike, and even from this quartz I have taken scattered samples that have assayed at from $3 to $11 a ton. I know that there is gold in all that country to the west of Goldfield, but I am the only one to begin development work so far. In another shaft that I sank at the foot of the hill I got a panning at a depth of three feet which was panning at a depth of three feet which was a panning at a depth of three feet which was picher than anything the rich Jumbo ever showed. BUTTE, June 25.—The Washoe and Anaconda Mining companies have filed an answer in reply to a suit brought by the ranchers of Deer Lodge valley in which they seek to close down the smelting plant of the companies at Anaconda on the ground that the smoke and fumes from the smelter are ruining the Arricultural value of the valley. Several Years ago, as is stated, in the answer, the Washoe and Anaconda companies paid rich yield to placer miners, but of late years to mining was done there. Now the discovery of good quartz ledges bids fair to lead to a revival of the old camp.

John Hays Hammond, acting for the Guggsheims, has bought the Oasis ranch in Ingrecounty, twenty-three miles from Tule Canon. To 15:000. This purchase will enable the buyers to control Cottonwood Creek water, which has 1,000 miner's inches. It will be used for hydraulicking in Tule Canon.

The Bingham Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has purchased the big Reighlain nine near Kensett in the Shafts county copper belt. The deal, it is said, will be closed in a few days, and the amount paid will be $1,000,000. The new company will install a 1,000 ton smelter.

The Western Pacific Railroad will open up several mining districts in northern California which have been too remote from any railroad to make mining profitable. One of these districts is Sierra Valley, near the Plumas county line. One of the best mines in this valley is the Empire, about the very real control of the smelter in the vicinity and that twelve miles northeast of Downieville. It produced largely up to about ten years ago. Now exploration work has been carried on for several months, and a new body of pay ore has been discovered within twenty two feet of the 500 foot level. The shaft will be sunk to a depth of 1,000 feet and new levels opened every 100 feet.

Five miles west of Sisson, on the flanks of Mount Shasta, ledges have been found which assay high in copper, with fair values in sold. The ore bears a strong resemblance to that of the Mountain Copper Company Keswick, and a company formed will proceed to develop the mine.

The Plut gold mine in Kern county is showing up well, a shoot of good ore being struck after sinking 510 feet. The ore is growing richer as the first smelting, and while some of it runs up into the hundreds, it will average $15 to the to. claims in that vicinity are being worked with great vicor.

The district was one of the territory's greatest placer camps, and at one time was the scene of a stampede, during which many claims were laid out. Several were lucky and many disappointed. One of the richest claims was that of the present discovery, but it was soon supposedly worked out and the pay streak lost. Lacasse brothers have continued operations for a number of years, and if reports are true will be rewarded this season alone with at least $250,000 worth of dust.

ALASKA.

SEATTLE. Wash., June 26.—Little Creek, Nome district, is now the center of attraction, and the Portland mine is making a wonderful production. This property was under option to the Ploneer Mining Company, which gave leases to Nels Peterson, John Johnson and Carl Anderson, on receipt of which they began the work of development on No. 1 below the discovery on the Portland, a bench claim, last fail. The three men and assistants prosecuted work diligently till Washington's Birthday, with indifferent success, and were discussing the advisability of throwing up the lease and abandoning the claim, when they struck the lead at a depth of 50 feet from the surface. They had been running within four feet of it for some distance before breaking into it. They kept an account of the number of pans they had thrown out, amounting in all to 200,000 pans, averaging $2 to the pan, or $410,000 to the entire dump. The richest pan yielded $1,250. The cost of operation was 2 per cent. of the output. About sixty days actual work was required in the production of this large quantity of gold, and the mine is good for much more of the precious metal. This gold composed a part of the cargo of the steamer Senator, which made the trip in a little over eight days.

The hundreds of frozen dimps along the Nome creeks are being thawed and washed and are yielding handsome returns to the miners. These dumps are yielding from $1,000 to $20,000 apiece and are the scene of great activity. Supplies of all kinds are now abundant and the camps were never so prosperous.

COLORADO.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 30.—The Cripple Creek output for the first half of 1905 is as follows: January, 62,030 tons, or $1,891,000; February, 48,800 tons, or $1,827,000; March, 53,800 tons, or $1,829,030; April, 61,297 tons, or $1,828,300; May, 59,115 tons, or $1,864,215. June, 80,124 tons, or $1,828,000; total tons, 345,116; value, $10,935,395. This is in excess of the record for the first half of last year. Dividends for 1905 thus far exceed $2,000,000.

A second drainage tunnel, 27,140 feet long, will be driven into Cripple Creek's gold hills. The committee representing the Mine Owners' Association, which has been investigating the situation for six months past, has recommended starting in the dry bed of Cripple Creek, three miles below the El Paso shaft, where the present El Paso drainage tunnel starts. From the portal an air line route 14,000 feet long will be pursued to the northeast to the El Paso shaft, where the depth below the surface will be 1,325 feet. The route will then be northeast to the Vindicator shaft, 12,040 feet distant. En route the Elkton workings will be cut at 1,680 feet depth, the Portland at 2,000 feet and the Vindicator at 2,125 feet.

The tunnel will be worked from four portals, including the El Paso shaft, which will be sunk to the level.

The estimated cost of the tunnel is $500,000. Of this amount $550,000 has been subscribed by the leading mines affected. These mines are located on Battle Mountain and Raven and Bull hills. The known underground water courses of the camp will be cut, and the drainage will be general.

The elipha bour day provided by the last Legislature went into force generally June 21, 1540 feet. The tunnel dimensions will be 6x8 feet in the clear north and south, and 8½x10 feet east and west. Work may begin early in the fall and be completed in about two years.

The eight hour day provided by the last Legislature went into force generally June 21 at mills a would be able to treat this vertical ore at a good profit.

The same vertical formation is found in the Maitland mine which is north of the Homestake about four miles. There are two or three strong vertical veins in this latter property which outcrop through the quartite and some of the ore runs very high. In the Reliance ground the vertical vein is fifteen eet in width and has come up through the quartitie which shows for a certainty that the vein originally came up through the slates. It is not such a strange thing to find the vertical vein in the Maitland and other mines north of the strike of the Homestake veins, but to find the same vertical ore four and five miles west of the Homestake is something new. miles west of the Homestake is something new.

The Horseshoe company also has vertical ore outcropping through the quartzite, as is shown in the Ben Hur mine. Going weatward from this city the quartzite sinks and the flat formation becomes deeper, so that at Bald Mountain it is from 300 to 500 feet to the quartzite level, while at the Homestake mine in this city there is not to exceed twenty feet of the quartzite ore resting upon the vertical slates.

UTAH.

SALT LAKE, June 28.—On the Harrington-Hickory of the Majestic, at Milford, air drills have just gone into commission, and on the Old Hickory of the same company ore is looked for in a half dozen places. The Newhouse mill concentrated 4,000 tons of ore last week, and when the Hancock jig is installed on July 10, the daily consumption of the mill will be increased to 800 tons.

Copper values are increasing in the workings of the Black Diamond at Stockton, and the belief is that the property will become a copper instead of a silver proposition with depth. The vein, which is being followed, is from six to ten inches wide.

The Herschel at Mercur has connected with the gold vein first exposed in the Sacramento and will probably enter the list of producers in a short time.

A conflict, in which Thomas F. Keeley a Chicago brewer, is plaintiff and Senator William A. Clark of Montana is defendant, has arisen over the Our Boys and Henrietta claims, now being operated by the Ophir Hill Mining Company. Suit has been filed in the United States Court and damages for the extraction of ores are asked for in the sum of $1,800,000.

days of its operation the Dewey mill at Thunder Mountain produced $10,600 in gold. A short time ago a strike was made of a large gold bearing dike south of the present workings. A tunnel has been started to cut the newly discovered ore body at depth.

A party of capitalists is examining several large ledges on the head of the south fork of Payette River. The veins carry lead and silver in large quantities and State Mine Inspector Bell says that with a railroad outlet they would rival, if not surpass, those of the Cour of Aldie section.

F. W. Parker has made a test run of ore from the Sunday mine at Quartzburg. He put through 125 tons and saved $1,100 on the plates, besides securing five tons of concentrates worth $80 a ton.

WASHINGTON. WASHINGTON.

SEATTLE, June 26.—The Gallaher cinnabar mines in Cle-Elum district, Kittitas county, are under development, employing twelve men. The vein is fifteen feet in width, with ore enough in sight to justify the construction of a plant for its reduction. It is the intation of the company to put the plant in early next month, and they expect success from the start.

In Swank district the placer mines are doing well, having a good supply of water. Last week at a clean-up in the Burcham mine nuggets weighing $85 were found, and pieces valued at from $5 to $20 were numerous. Some very rich quartz in places was found last week in this district and a ledge that gives great promise is being followed up.

The mines of Monte Cristo district, which were idle for some time, have resumed and are shipping regularly to the Everett smelter, which is running to its full capacity.

Take Peabody mine shipped forty tons to the Everett smelter last week, and is now in position to keep it up. The old Forty-five mine is also producing, and will begin shipments this week.

RETTER Wash., June 26.—Eastern capital has been interested in both placer and quartz mines in Cariboo district this season, and mines that were regarded as good property, only requiring a small amount of money to put them in productive shape, are now in position to demonstrate their worth. Millions in dust and bullion have been taken out of these mines, and it is said that millions remain in the ground to be taken out at comparatively small cost. The seasons are as short almost as those of Alaska and the climate is the same, but the country is very accessible, good roads leading to all parts, with projected transcontinental railroads and branches. Gold, silver, iron, lead, copper and coal are found in the older sections, while the unexplored sections offer every inducement to the wideawake prospector. Wood and water abound—water particularly, in broad flowing streams and beautiful lakes such as are unknown in other parts of the province. In the eastern part of the province, where the Western spirit prevails, there is a stampede of homeseekers, going in not only by the carload but by the trainload, and they appear well pleased with the country and the prospects.

The Realty Auotion Market.

The public sale business made a good showing last week for this time of the year. Of twenty-seven properties offered, all but four were disposed of. The successful bids aggregated $703,012. The Bronx was not especially well represented, but what property was offered there was sold at good prices. Court sales contributed most of the offerings and in two cases yielded the highest prices of the week. The parcels that attracted the chief attention were the Twenty-seventh street corner of Third avenue, sold by Joseph P. Day, and the Elm street holdings, sold by Bryan L. Kennelly for $30,500, by order of the Sinking Fund Commission. The city upset bid was $70,000. The Twenty-seventh street corner, including two tenements and a lost than its valuation by the Tax Department. The present week, which is curtailed by two holdays, has very little to offer. Auctioneer Simon of L. J. Phillips & Co. will sell on Wednesday a three story frame stable, The Realty Auction Market.
